

CELEBRITY CONCERT

By Artistes from the
FESTIVAL OF ITALIAN OPERA

BY KIND PERMISSION OF
The Dublin Grand Opera Society

GAIETY THEATRE, DUBLIN

19th May, 1957

In aid of
THE DUBLIN AIRPORT CHURCH BUILDING FUND

THE increasing popularity of air transport and the growth of Dublin Airport as the terminus for traffic from Britain and Europe suggested the necessity for building a Catholic Church to serve the needs of passengers and airline staffs. A Committee was formed in March, 1952, and was given the task of building a Church at the Airport. Weekly staff collections and social functions are the main sources of the Committee's income to meet the heavy financial outlay on a building which will maintain the high standard of architecture associated with the Airport. The Church will be located opposite the main Airport entrance and will be dedicated to "Our Lady Queen of Heaven."

It is expected that the Church will be erected on the 25th anniversary of the formation of Aer Lingus.

ANTONIO GALIÉ

Antonio Galié, a tenor of pure yet strong quality, scored a tremendous success in the role of Chenier with Tebaldi in Rome last season. He made his debut only four years ago but is already highly thought of in Italy.

GIULIO MASTRANGELO

Baritone Giulio Mastrangelo, new to Dublin, is well-known as far afield as Cairo and Australia as well as at home for his singing of all the standard baritone roles.

MIKI KOIWAI

A particular point of interest this season is the appearance, for the first time on a Dublin stage, of Miki Koiwai, whose rich effortless singing is allied to a characteristically oriental grace.

UMBERTO BORSÓ

Umberto Borsó made his debut three years ago and has risen to eminence in the past year, taking leading roles in the company of such singers as Tebaldi, Taddei and Gobbi.

RENZO GONZALES (Bass)

GIANELLA BORELLI

GIUSEPPE FORGIONE

FERRUCCIO MAZZOLI

FERNANDO BANDERA

Fernando Bandera specialises in lyric roles and is young, handsome and an intelligent musician with a particular gift for characterisation.

MARIA dalla SPEZIA

Maria dalla Spezia, soprano, has one of the most beautiful voices to be heard in Italy to-day.
